Grade Schools' Graduates Get Their Diplomas

Commencement Exercises of Grade Schools Largely Attended—Interesting Program Rendered—Dr. Michael Addresses Graduates—President Flemming Presents Diplomas.

A fine program was presented by the graduates of the Kingston grammar schools on the occasion of the [illegible] commencement exercises of the schools, held in the Kingston High School Auditorium on Friday afternoon, when eighty-one boys and girls received their diplomas entitling them to enter the high school. A word of special commendation is also due the Grade School Orchestra, composed of the orchestras of the various schools assembled together and conducted by Mr. Stine, supervisor of music of the city schools. It is a difficult matter to gather together musicians, especially such youthful musicians, and on a few rehearsals together get such excellent results in rhythm, shading and for the most part, pitch. The musicians and Mr. Stine fully deserved the compliment that Dr. Michael paid them. As always, there was a capacity audience of parents and friends of the graduates.

Dr. Michael, superintendent of schools, who acted as master of ceremonies, before announcing the program, told the parents of the children who will attend the high school for the first time next week, of the High School Parent-Teacher Association, wherein both the teachers and parents got together to see how best to make it possible for the students to gain the most from their high school experience, and he urged all such parents to attend the meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher Association at the high school next Tuesday evening about eight o'clock.

The Commencement Program.

The commencement program opened with an orchestral number, "California March," by Ascher, played by the Grade School Orchestra under the conducting of Mr. Stine.

The first recitation, "Unawares," by Emma Lent, given by Anna L. Whitbeck of School No. 6, was given with keen appreciation by the speaker who could easily be heard anywhere in the large auditorium.

Hugo's "A Tragedy of the Sea," with its appeal to any red-blooded boy old enough and keen visioned enough to understand it, was admirably given by John Albert Kwant of School No. 7.

A song, "Star of Home", by Bunce, given very musically by a chorus of the graduating class, varied the program at this point.

There was much food for thought in Veronica Van Aken's (School No. [illegible]) recitation of Edgar Guest's "Just a Job".

Beatrice Balinky of School No. 2 received much enthusiastic applause for her recitation of "Young Lochinvar", by Will McGrew who so styled Colonel Lindbergh.

Irving Bell of School No. 3 showed considerable dramatic, certainly imitative ability, in his recitation "Mia Carlotta" by T. A. Daly and was enthusiastically applauded.

Quite an ambitious orchestral number was the "Lola Waltz" by Ascher, with its solo bits for wind instruments and then for strings and it received merited applause.

Probably one of the best recitations of the afternoon, showing in the lad's very expression of his face and understanding delivery of "Youth's Opportunities", his appreciation of his subject, as given by George C. Kent of School No. 4. He spoke with rare clearness, too.

Another excellent recitation with a forward look, was "The Call to the Young" by C. F. Raymond, as given by Anna M. Powers of School No. 5.

Congratulated by Dr. Michael.

In presenting the class to President Flemming to receive their diplomas, Dr. Michael congratulated the class upon the excellence of the program, both as to subjects chosen and delivery of those subjects. Taking the thought from the last two speakers, Dr. Michael called to mind the progress that has been made in the public school systems during the past twenty or twenty-five years, and reminded the audience that the intensified work of the teachers of today was four-fold what it was twenty years ago. Choosing at random he mentioned the following new and most excellent school enterprises of today: Health program, drawing, safety first, conservation of everything, music, etc. In closing he congratulated the graduates upon their accomplishments and expressed the hope that all would be able to come to the high school, where they would be expected to do their very best.

President Presents Diplomas.

Like Dr. Michael, President Flemming was greatly impressed with both the subjects chosen by the pupils and their understanding presentation of the same, especially "Youth's Opportunities", in which Mr. Flemming said he felt that all and more than any other speaker could offer was to be found for it emphasized "Service to Humanity" as the real and the great service. President Flemming said that he was also greatly impressed with the first recitation, "Unawares", with its lesson that the opportunity for service knocks at our door every day. He hoped that in their school life, the young people before him would find the right preparation for a life of service and that their school days would be full of real satisfaction to them. He then presented the diplomas.

After the orchestra had played a medley of National airs, the baskets and bouquets of flowers that had formed the very pretty foreground to the picture of a stage filled with happy-faced, bright-eyed boys and girls were distributed and Commencement, January, 1928, was over.

Against Law to Coast on Street

Police Department Receives Complaints From Citizens Asking That Coasting on Hills Be Prohibited—Coasting Forbidden by State Law.

Today was the first real day of coasting this winter with the hills packed solidly with ice and snow and hundreds of children swarmed out on the hills with their sleds to enjoy the fine coasting. As a result of the children coasting on the hills a number of citizens called up police headquarters and lodged complaints and asked that the practice be stopped.

Coasting Is Prohibited.

As a result orders were issued at police headquarters to prohibit all coasting on streets. The season for this order is, that the hazard is too great on account of the amount of traffic passing over all streets.

Coasting is forbidden by the Highway Traffic Law of New York state, Section 20, Article 4, reading as follows: "No person shall coast with handsleds, bobs, carts or other vehicles, on wheels or runners upon any public sidewalk in any city; nor shall any person coast with handsleds, bobs or carts or other vehicles on wheels or runners upon any public street of the city except upon such streets as may be designated by the common council, board of aldermen or commission thereof."

No Streets Designated.

No hills in the city have been designated for coasting this year as owing to the heavy traffic the city authorities did not care to assume the responsibility for any child being killed or injured while coasting.

Madison County Jail Unsafe

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 21 (AP).—Prisoners could escape from some of the cells in the Madison county jail at Wampsville without even taking the trouble to saw through the bars, for many of the locks fail to operate at any time, the state commission of correction declared in an inspection report of the prison made public today.

"A careful examination of the cell doors and locking device," said the report, "disclosed that none of the doors on the second floor could be closed, and the locking device on both first and second floors was not working properly, making the jail in its present condition unsafe."

The inspection of the entire locking system by competent mechanics was recommended.

The report also suggested the employment of an additional assistant jailer or guard.

Wintry Weather In New York State

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 21.—New York state had another belated taste of winter today.

As usual, the Adirondack region was the coldest section of the state. A snow storm approaching blizzard intensity raged there throughout Thursday night and yesterday, but ceased early today, leaving the roads blocked with snow. Drifts from ten to fifteen feet in depth covered the highways through the mountain passes. But there was virtually no interference with railroad traffic. The mercury dropped to 15 degrees below zero at Saranac Lake.

Malone, north of the Adirondacks, and near the Canadian border, experienced a temperature of fourteen below zero, while Watertown reported three degrees below.

Utica, in the center of the state, and Lockport, near the Niagara frontier, had the same thermometer reading, six above.

Another Cold Wave Hits City

Friday night and today the city was again in the grip of a cold wave. The thermometer at police headquarters at midnight Friday registered 18 degrees above zero and at 6 o'clock this morning 14 degrees above. Thursday at midnight the thermometer registered 38 degrees above zero.

Dinner for Woolworth Employes.

W. E. Dunn, manager of the F. W. Woolworth Company Five and Ten Cent Store, gave the employes a dinner at the Advance restaurant, Wall street, Thursday evening. Those present were: Mrs. W. E. Dunn, W. E. Dunn, Kathleen Brandow, Ethel Garrison, Dorothy Krom, Marjorie Winchell, Frances Patten, Hazel Osborn, Cecelia McAuliffe, Marjorie Kime, Mildred Briody, Sarah Blackwell, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Osterhoudt, Adam Porter, Joseph Pfrommer and George Garrison. After the dinner they all attended Reade's Theatre.

President's Report.

Another report of special interest as telling of what has been accomplished at Home for the Aged, now so popular and heartily established in the hearts of the community, was that of the untiring and very efficient president, Mrs. Virgil B. Van Wagonen, which was as follows:

The Home for the Aged in Ulster county was incorporated November 24, 1919, so it has passed its eighth birthday. Eight years of active work making the Home a real one to our twelve members. To have the public know how far we have succeeded we invite all to visit the Home at any time, assuring them of a real welcome, and know they will be repaid for their visit. We wish to extend our thanks to the many friends who have helped to make our Home a successful work, in making the holiday season a happy one, in filling our shelves with provisions, to the medical profession for their care and attention at all times whenever called.

We are most grateful for all assistance in the affairs of the Home, for gifts of money, provision, and clothing. We mean that the Home for the Aged in every sense of the word shall be a home and in having it a real Home we are almost entirely indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Davis who so efficiently act as manager and matron of the Home and to them and their helpers we extend our sincere gratitude.

Respectfully submitted,
MAGGIE VAN WAGONEN,
President.

Major-General Goethals Dies

Builder of Panama Canal Dies In New York Apartment After an Illness of Several Months—Burial at West Point.

New York, Jan. 21 (AP).—Major-General George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal, died at his apartment here today.

The announcement was made by a son who said that his father had been ill for several months. Interment will be at West Point.

His two sons and his wife were at his bedside when death came.

The nature of the illness was not disclosed, but those closely associated with him in business said he had been seriously ill for two months and that hope for his recovery had been abandoned several weeks ago. His illness did not become generally known until today.

After his retirement from active service with the army General Goethals dropped out of the public eye to a great extent, but continued as consulting engineer with offices in New York. He was one of the principal advisers of the Port of New York Authority during the construction of the Holland vehicular tunnel. He also was an adviser of the Port Authority in its other projects, including bridges now being built between Staten Island and New Jersey and the proposed bridge across the Hudson to Fort Lee, N. J.

Mannerchor Plans For Anniversary

Sixty Years Ago the Rondout Social Mannerchor Was Organized—Event to be Celebrated—Annual Masquerade Ball—Officers Installed.

In February of 1868, sixty years ago, the Rondout Social Mannerchor was organized and has led an active life since its formation. Ten years ago the Mannerchor celebrated its golden anniversary and a committee from the organization is now making plans to celebrate the sixtieth anniversary during February.

This fact was brought out at the installation of the recently elected officers on Sunday at the Mannerchor rooms on East Strand. The officers installed were: President, Charles Corson; vice president, Albert Kreisig; recording secretary, Ernest Bauer; financial secretary, Fred Sudneimer; treasurer Fred Scholl; trustee, Arthur Optiz; librarian, Fred Ewel. Following the installation a moving picture was shown and there was a fine program of entertainment.

The sixtieth annual masquerade ball of the Rondout Social Mannerchor will be held this year on Monday evening, January 30. Owing to the large attendance expected the ball this year will be held in White Eagle Hall on Delaware avenue. The music for dancing will be furnished by Zucca's orchestra.

Cosgrave and Party in Chicago

Chicago, Jan. 21 (AP).—William T. Cosgrave, president of the executive council of the Irish Free State, and his party arrived here today aboard a private car attached to the Twentieth Century Limited and were met by a welcoming throng of several hundred persons and a guard of more than 100 police.

The Cosgrave party was met by an official reception committee appointed by Mayor Thompson. Cheers went up from the crowds as the party left the train.

Police cleared a path through the crowd for the party as it made its way through the concourse to waiting automobiles for a parade up Michigan avenue to the Drake Hotel, where the visitors will stop.

There was no antagonistic demonstration of any sort as the party went through the station and entered automobiles for the trip through the downtown district.

In contrast to the silk hatted members of the committee, Mayor Thompson appeared at the station wearing a high sombrero and a big raccoon coat.

In the station was a large sign bearing in gaelic the inscription "Chicago Welcomes You" which was noted by Mr. Cosgrave.

The parade of automobiles moved through the downtown district while people lined the curbs giving vent to frequent friendly demonstrations. At the hotel the party was to be luncheon guests of Mayor Thompson.

Brith Abraham Meeting.

Members of Kingston Lodge, No. 221, Independent Order Brith Abraham, are requested to attend their regular meeting Sunday, January 22, at 7:30 p. m. in the Hebrew School Hall, Post street. It is important that every member hear a notice from the U. S. Grand Lodge to be read at the meeting.

Dunne Re-elected Secretary.

In the list of officers elected by Wiltwyck Hose Company, No. 1, the name of L. E. Dunne, who was re-elected as secretary, was omitted. Mr. Dunne has been the efficient secretary of the company for many years and his re-election each year shows what confidence the members have in him.

DeWitt Wins Another Victory

Mac Donald DeWitt Successful in Efforts for New Trial of Libel Action Against New York Sun and Telegram—Judge Has No Hesitation in Granting His Motion.

Another notable victory was won in court by MacDonald DeWitt of Kingston and New York city in New York this week when Supreme Court Justice Churchill granted a motion made by Mr. DeWitt in behalf of the New York Sun and the New York Telegram for a new trial of the libel action brought against the two newspapers in April, 1926, by Mrs. Sarah L. Robertson of Deal Beach, N. J. Mr. DeWitt's victory in another suit brought by the same plaintiff against the New York Daily News, in June, 1926, may be recalled by readers of The Freeman. Mrs. Robertson obtained a judgment of $5,000 each against the Sun and the Telegram, which consolidated their defense.

The suits were the outcome of an alleged robbery at Deal Beach in 1922, when Mrs. Robertson reported that a masked man had held her and several of her friends up in their home and stolen jewelry which she valued at $150,000. She was subsequently arrested charged with defrauding the Lloyd's Insurance Company of $55,000, the amount of a policy on the gems, through a faked robbery. She was tried in New Jersey on the criminal charge and acquitted. She then sued the insurance company for $55,000, the value of the alleged stolen jewelry, with the result that the jury disagreed on the first trial and rendered a verdict for Mrs. Robertson for $28,000 on the second trial.

Mixed Results.

Mrs. Robertson then sued two New Jersey newspapers, the Long Branch Record and the Asbury Park Press, for libel and that trial resulted in a disagreement of the jury. She then brought to trial her suit against the New York Times which resulted in a verdict for the defendant. Then the trial of the suits against the New York Sun and the New York Evening Telegram came on and the actions being consolidated and tried as one resulted in verdicts in Mrs. Robertson's favor for $5,000 against each newspaper—$10,000 in all. Then came the trial against the New York World which resulted in a verdict for the defendant, and the trial against the News, represented by Mr. DeWitt, with the same result.

The Sun Telegram attorneys took an appeal from the judgment in their case and recently Mr. DeWitt was retained to argue such appeal. In the course of the trial of the Sun Telegram suit, Mrs. Robertson asserted that she had at the time of the alleged faked robbery $36,000 in the bank and was in no need of funds. In the trial of a subsequent suit, Mrs. Roberison admitted under cross-examination by Mr. DeWitt that she did not have $36,000 in the bank but that she had been making desperate efforts to borrow this sum and had been unable to do so all during the period of six months before the alleged robbery.

On the ground of the conflicting testimony and on the ground of newly discovered evidence, a motion was argued on January 9 last made in behalf of the Sun Telegram for a new trial, which motion was argued by Mr. DeWitt before Judge Churchill, before whom the Sun Telegram case had been tried, and on January 11 when the appeal came on for argument before the appellate division, an adjournment was obtained pending a decision of the first motion.

The decision of Judge Churchill, reported in the New York Law Journal of January 17, granted the motion for a new trial, and the opinion of Judge Churchill states:

"Motion to set aside verdict and to vacate judgment and for a new trial is granted on the ground that justice requires that this be done in view of the evidence discovered by the defendants since the trial. I hesitated to allow the verdict to stand when the motion to set aside was made on the minutes. I have no hesitation in granting the motion now. Settle order on notice."

The result of the motion has been given considerable attention in New York city newspapers.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR COMING WEEK

Following is the weather outlook for the week beginning Monday:

North and Middle Atlantic States: Rising temperature first part of week with snows or rains about Tuesday, followed by colder weather Wednesday or Thursday.

City's Health Score Increased

Dr. Huntington Williams, district state health officer of the State Health Department, was in Kingston on Thursday talking over local health conditions with Dr. Daniel Connelly, city health officer, and making his annual inspection of the work of the health department.

This morning Dr. Connelly received a letter from Dr. Williams stating that he was sure the local health board would be pleased to learn that Kingston's health score, which was [illegible]79 in 1926, is now well over 700. Dr. Williams wrote: "The toxin antitoxin clinics stand out as the most conspicious and praiseworthy feature, but the spirit and personnel of your health office seems to me to be an extremely pleasant one and functions smoothly. I cannot remember a city where the milk and meat inspector played such a useful part in a T-A campaign."

Civil War Vet Dead at 98

Francis Yullig, aged 98 years, died early today at the home of his niece, Mrs. George Baisden, Sleightsburgh. Mr. Yullig was a veteran of the Civil War, having served with Company F, 112th Regiment, and Company I, Third Regular New York Infantry. Born in Germany, the deceased came to this country when a young man, locating in Ulster county and residing here since.

Besides his niece, with whom he made his home, he is also survived by another niece, Mrs. Burch Foraker, of Detroit, Mich. The funeral will be held on Tuesday morning at 8:45 o'clock from the funeral parlors of Undertaker James V. Halloran, 44 Broadway, and thence to St. Peter's Church, where at 9 o'clock, a requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment will be in the family plot in St. Peter's cemetery. Kingston Post, American Legion, will conduct military services at the grave.

K. of C. Program Solicitors Fakes

Members of the local Knights of Columbus were informed today by local business men that solicitors have approached them for ads for a program in connection with the Knights of Columbus Charity Ball to be held at the armory on Friday, February 2.

The Knights of Columbus have authorized no one to solicit ads, as no program will be published in connection with the ball. The charitable work carried on through the medium of this ball has the hearty approval of the general public and the local Knights desire to protect them from falling victims to the culprits.

Negroes Held for Hearing.

William Lee and Samuel Capplin, negroes, were brought to jail late Friday night for a hearing in the town of Ulster before a justice of the peace on a charge of disorderly conduct in that they took part in a fist fight at East Kingston.

Poultney Bigelow To Lecture.

Poultney Bigelow of Malden-on-Hudson will deliver a lecture on "Historical Pitfalls" before the New York Historical Society, 170 Central Park West, New York city, on Tuesday evening, February 7, at 8:30 o'clock.

Flanagan Elected C. of C. Head for Another Year

Officers Elected by Chamber of Commerce Directors—Honorary Memberships Extended to Three Local Business Men's Associations With Request to Designate Members to Meet With Directors.

The Chamber of Commerce directors, together with the retiring directors Messrs. Lasher, Messinger and Van Valkenburgh, met Friday evening to elect officers for 1928.

President Flanagan paid tribute to the retiring directors for the faithful service they had rendered the association and expressed the hope for their continued interest which was cheerfully given.

Officers chosen are as follows:

President, E. Frank Flanagan, re-elected; first vice president, James A. Dwyer; second vice president, Lewis Brown; treasurer, Morris Samter; secretary, Louis S. Coe.

It was voted to hold a regular monthly meeting of the board on the second Monday of each month. In order that a closer affiliation might be secured between the Chamber and the three business men's associations, it was voted to extend honorary memberships in the Chamber to each association with a request that they designate a member to sit with the board in their meetings, bringing from their associations suggestions of activities for the welfare of the merchants and the city and reporting to the associations the action taken by the board of directors of the Chamber.

In this united manner it was felt that a more unified program could be carried on.

Attention is called to the Annual Dinner Meeting of the Chamber to be held Tuesday, January 24, at 6:45 p. m., at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Tickets may be obtained at the Chamber or from Sam Bernstein, Jr., Morton Lown, D. J. Schenck, Monroe Southard, James A. Dwyer, and C. J. Heiselman.

Catholic Women Re-elect Officers

The regular quarterly meeting of the Ulster county unit of the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women held at the Knights of Columbus rooms Tuesday afternoon, proved to be a most enthusiastic and interesting one. Mrs. William D. Cunningham, president of Ulster county unit, presided.

Mrs. John N. Cordts, treasurer, reported balance of $59 in county fund and total amount collected in dues $700. This was considered a very creditable showing considering that the unit has been functioning for about a year.

Mrs. K. McCutcheon, membership chairman, reported 110 members in annual report, and gave names of six new members.

One of the most interesting reports given was that of Mrs. Sarah F. Gallagher, chairman of study clubs. Mrs. Gallagher told how the members of St. Mary's Rosary Society, after considering the different subjects outlined by the council for study, selected the Mass. This was done by means of a course of illustrated lectures on the Mass given by the Very Rev. Dean Scully.

This society is now forming groups for the study of different subjects. Several have decided upon the study of civics for this year.

Other clubs are being formed in the city. Any of the members wishing to organize clubs may communicate with the chairman.

A full report of the annual convention of the council held at the Plaza Hotel, New York city, last week, was given by Mrs. Mary Cogel, who added that Ulster county may well be proud of its report as given by the president. In addition to the study clubs and the immigration work, it was decided to take up the work in catechetical instruction in this city, during the coming year. Much good work along this line is being done by the Ulster county unit in the different towns of the county.

It was voted to invite Mrs. Salmons or some other speaker from the National or New York Council, to address the meeting in April. This meeting will be followed by a social hour and refreshments served.

At the annual election of officers the former officers were unanimously re-elected with the exception of Mrs. Anna Watson, corresponding secretary, who resigned. President, Mrs. William D. Cunningham; vice-president, Mrs. E. T. Shultis; secretary, Mrs. V. A. Gorman; treasurer, Mrs. John N. Cordts, Sr.; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles Mullen; auditor, Miss Mary McGrath, of Phoenicia.

Prof. Stumpf Seriously Ill.

Prof. Jacob Stumpf, director of the Rondout Social Mannerchor, is seriously ill at the City of Kingston Hospital where he recently underwent an operation. In addition to his duties as director of the local singing organization he is also director of the Germania Singing Society of Poughkeepsie. Prof. Stumpf for many years has been in charge of the bookkeeping department of Spencer's Business School.

A Million Less for Grape Growers

Dunkirk, N. Y., Jan. 21 (P)—Grape growers in the Chautauqua Erie belt for the season of 1927 received a million dollars less for their crop than they did during the year 1926.

According to the figures just tabulated by the various shipping associations the total of last year's crop was $1,547,150 to the growers, while that of the year of 1926 was more than two and a half million.

In former years the growers averaged as high as $125 for the fruit, but last season the price did not average over $45 a ton.

The grape growers are at a loss to account for the situation in the industry, and are loath to make predictions for the future. It appears, however, that the California grapes have made heavy inroads on the New York state fruit for the juice grape market.

It was found impossible last year to reach an agreement between co-operative and cash buyers on the matter of grading grapes, and for this reason efforts to establish one were abandoned. Hopes are not entertained that the New York Legislature will pass a law to establish the grading of grapes for the season of 1928.

The Interstate Commerce Commission last year granted a reduction in freight rates to the California grape growers, and as a result of this the New York state grape growers have filed an application with the Interstate Commerce Commission asking for a reduction of the classification of grapes from fourth to second class which will make a difference of several dollars a ton on grapes to the large city market.

FARM BUREAU OPPOSES PLAN FOR MORE RABBITS

Medina, N. Y., Jan. 21 (P)—The Orleans County Farm Bureau and prominent farmers of the section are bitterly opposed to the announced policy of the State Conservation Commission to free an allotment of rabbits in the county.

Both the bureau and the Orleans County Grange have expressed their opinion that far too many rabbits are in this section of the state already and they have sought means of increasing the open hunting days to reduce their numbers and the damage to the crops by what they describe as "pests." They plan a sharp protest at Albany.

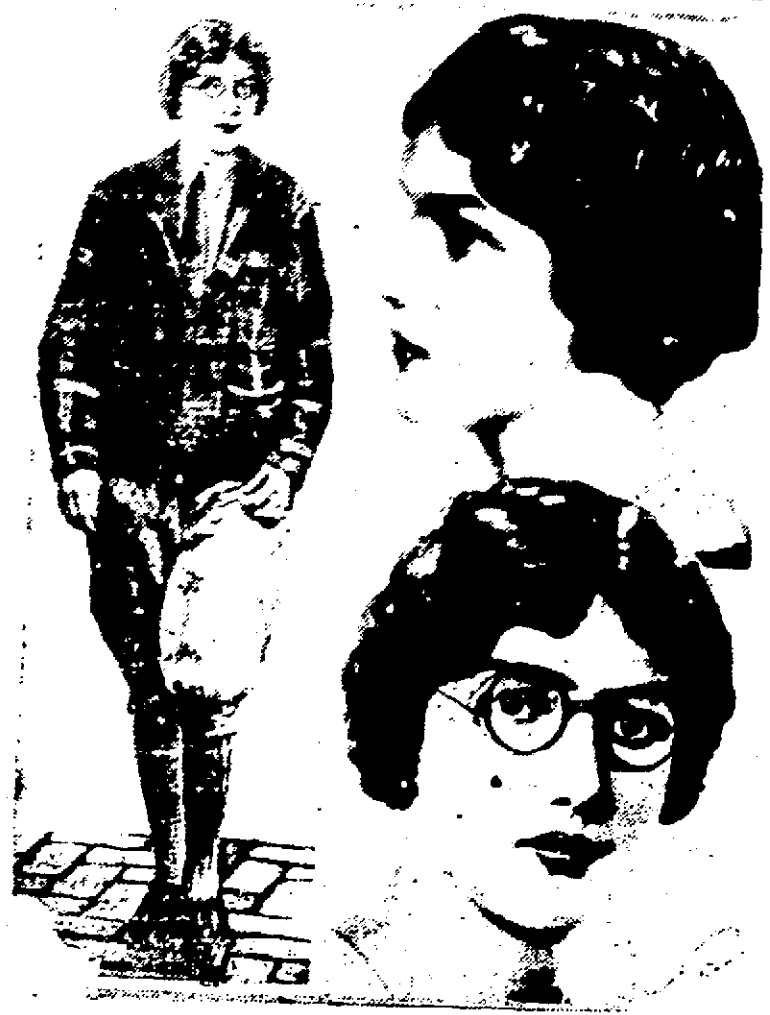
NEWEST PHOTOS OF MISSING GIRL



Here are three new pictures of Frances St. John Smith, missing New York heiress and Smith College student, for whose discovery rewards now totaling $12,000 are offered. The photos with the glasses make quite a change in her appearance, and she may be passing unrecognized somewhere by wearing them.

May Be Ousted

WILLIAM S. VARE
(International Illustrated News)

Senator-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania, whose right to his seat in Congress is under dispute. His case will be taken up on the floor of the Senate in the immediate future, and if the decision barring Frank L. Smith of Illinois is any criterion of the Senate's mood, Vare also will be ousted.—INTERNATIONAL.

Lilac Always Blossom of Love and Lovers

The lilac is an oriental blossom coming to us originally by way of Turkey and Spain. It is supposed to be the flower of love and lovers, marking the heyday of spring. The love lore of the "laylock," to give it an Old-world name is varied and pleasant. A spray of white lilac, buried on the eve of a May moon, is a midland charm which maidens practiced, believing that by the time the lilac died they would have the heart of the man they desired. If as many lilac petals as composed the name of a lover were strung on triple threads of white silk, and worn in a little bag next to the heart, before next lilac time came the lover would be won by this secret charm. If you have lilac in your garden no ghost can enter your house; if white lilac grows beside your door you will never be without love and luck; if you pluck a spray of lilac without your lover's knowledge when walking with him, put one of its petals in his drink; if he swallows it, he is yours forever and a day. A "luck lilac," usually found on white lilac, has five divisions of the petal instead of four. If you are in love, look for a luck lilac, swallow it, and your loved one will be faithful for all time! Thus love and lilac are irrevocably related.

His Preference

A Scotch member of a golf course near London took a business friend for a day's golfing. After the morning round they lunched very sparingly on biscuits and cheese. "Man," cried the enthusiastic Scot as he gazed through an open window, "this is my favorite course. Isn't it yours?"

"Er—not exactly," replied the starving guest. "I should have preferred a good steak and onions."—London Answers.

Finale

The lecturer was emphasizing the demoralizing effect of divorce.

"Love," he said, "is a quest; a proposal, a request; the giving of a daughter's hand in marriage, a bequest, and marriage itself the conquest. But what is divorce?"

Voice from the audience—"The inquest."

Getting Bad News

Frank L. Smith is here shown reading telegram announcing the Senate had voted that he was not entitled to a seat as senator from Illinois. "Slush fund" allegations were the basis for the action.

Gas From Oil Wells

Vapor that rise from oil wells and which has hitherto gone to waste is now being bottled and sold as fuel. This vapor is obtained from wells that are in production or from wells that have been pumped out, and burns with an odorless gas flame after it has gone through various processes.

It is first refined and compressed until it becomes a low-pressure liquid that reassumes its gaseous form on being released from the steel bottles in which it is stored. These bottles are attached to heating appliances by pipes and tubes. When the valve of the jet is turned on the pressure of the gas forces it through an air mixer similar to that of any gas range.

Confucius Great Sage

The man whose memory has for 2,000 years aroused signal respect and honor in China was a sage, not a saint nor a founder of a religious faith. Confucious took the best of the various Chinese philosophers of his day and formed a cult of his own, using as a basis five cardinal virtues—righteousness, knowledge, sincerity, politeness and discrimination of good. The wisdom of the Chinese Solomon so delighted the people that temples were built in his honor, his wise sayings were widely quoted and came to be taught in the Chinese schools.

The Hobo Instinct

One of the primal instincts of man which refuses to be eradicated is the wandering urge. It originated, undoubtedly, from necessity. The need for changing hunting grounds and camp sites was always present in prehistoric and early historic times. Later when people settled down, founded towns, and agricultural districts became established, the necessity for this urge ceased to some extent. The instinct of wishing to see new lands, however, has continued and undoubtedly that is one of the reasons for the present popularity of motor camping.

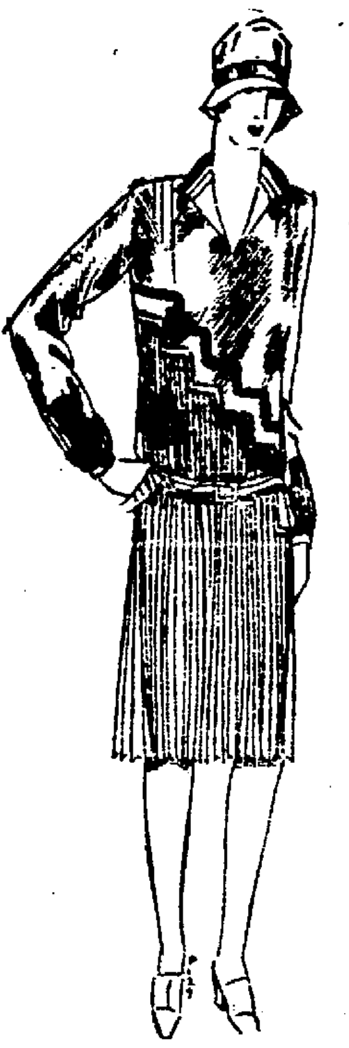
ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

BOW OR BUCKLE YOUR BELT—THIS IS A GENERAL RULE FOR FASTENING EVERYTHING ONE WEARS AT THE MOMENT.

Paris—A blanket order for remodeling any dress is, "add a belt with a novel, and of course attractive buckle." One often says, and likes to feel, that every fad is based on some sort of logic, but the present furor over belts seems to disprove this statement.

Often a dress has a belt without any reason for its being added. Nearly all sports dresses are belted, many day dresses, and, stranger still, a goodly percentage of evening dresses. Belts for evening vary from a sparkling string of rhinestones to wide bands of antelope, buckled with diamonds, or to bands of ribbon bowed hither and yon.



Hand Drawnwork, Arranged in Geometric Design Both for Bodice and Skirt, Is the Distinguishing Feature of this Two-Piece Model in Pale Peach-Yellow Crepe de Chine.

For instance, a wide ruby-red velvet ribbon girdled the natural waistline of a slim dancer wearing a black point d'esprit robe de style, the ribbon tied in a large and flat bow on the left hip and centered by a large rhinestone buckle. In another instance, a band of gold ribbon encircled the waist of a pink tulle dance frock, the ribbon being tied in a rather small bow directly in the center.

One still has the feeling that whatever one wears—whatever, that is, that is in need of fastening—should be either tied or buckled. While what was known as the slip-on variety of dress is hardly that any more, dresses do not appear to require buttons, certainly not hooks and eyes. A bow, a buckle, or a decorative pin answers the purpose, and does more by adding decoration.

Belts too have been graduated from the string variety, and have become really worth while in themselves.

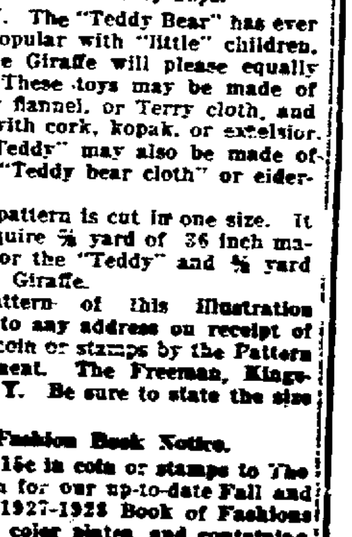
OUR DAILY PATTERN.



Two "Nursery Toys."

4787. The "Teddy Bear" has ever been popular with "little" children, and the Giraffe will please equally well. These toys may be made of felt, or flannel, or Terry cloth, and filled with cork, kopak, or excelsior. The "Teddy" may also be made of plush, "Teddy bear cloth" or eiderdown.

The pattern is cut in one size. It will require ⅝ yard of 36 inch material for the "Teddy" and ⅝ yard for the Giraffe.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Fall and Winter 1927-1928 Book of Fashions showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies', misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

THE COSTUME HAS BECOME SUBSERVIENT TO THE COSTUME ACCESSORY — BLACK HATS, AND DRESSES ARE OFFSET BY DAZZLING ORNAMENTS

Paris—Were it not for the extremely interesting incidentals, or accessories, to the toilette, reporting what is being worn today would be a next to impossible feat. One may dilate and discourse at great length on the theme, but, boiled down to the very essence of the thing, the story is told in black hats, black coats with lynx, and, more often than not, black dresses. Yet there is nothing dreary in the scene en masse. There is the flare and coquetry of the tiny eye-veil to take the curse of monotony from the close-fitting black felt; the blaze of a rhinestone necklace, cabochon, or buckle to distract attention from the fact that the dress is black and seemingly simple; and there is the soft, flattering lure of creamy lynx to offset the fact that the rank and file of women have chosen identical coats this winter.

To the close observer, there are many fine points of distinction between this dress and that, but to overcome the handicap of black crepe satin, another point of universal acclaim, a costume must be distinctive to enable it to stand out from the multitude.

One sees an occasional royal blue crepe at smart lunching places, and if it is a sports costume, an occasional gray or beige, but there is no disputing the supremacy of black.

No shadow of a large hat brim has been cast on the wall of Paris. Hats could scarcely be smaller and cover the head. Most of them are brimless, and when there is a brim, Reboux cuts it away to disclose one eyebrow.

Weekly Market Letter On Request

You Can Buy A Partnership In America

When you invest in Federated Capital Corporation (formerly Federal Investment Trust Incorporated) you are, in effect, buying a partnership in industrial and financial America.

You share in the earnings of 100 of the leading companies in America, 29 banks in New York and other important cities, and 26 leading insurance companies. These 155 organizations form a cross section of industrial and financial America. If, therefore, America is sound, your money invested in Federated Capital Corporation should be safe. As America grows in population and in wealth, your investment should grow in value.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 21 (AP).—Resumption of the upward price movement in today's stock market was temporarily interrupted by a heavy wave of profit taking, but speculators for the advance quickly regained control. Extreme gains in many of the active issues ranged from 2 to 6 points, with public utilities, motors and merchandising issues giving the best exhibitions of group strength.

Week end market letters laid particular stress on the stiffening steel prices and the pickup in mill operations in that industry. Less alarm was expressed over the credit situation although it was widely recognized as an important influence on the future trend of prices.

Montana Power was again a market leader, soaring 6 points to a new high record at 122. R. H. Macy advanced four points to a new peak at 254 and Montgomery Ward also rallied 4 points above yesterday's final quotation. Adams Express, Brooklyn Edison and Hudson Motors were other outstanding strong points.

The closing was firm. Total sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

Corn—March, 88⅝c; May, 91⅝c.

Oats—March, 55c; May, 56⅛c.

Merely Water Mark

The small design in the corner of George Washington's letter paper is a water mark. The original sheet of paper was four times the size of the note paper and bore the water mark in the center. Cutting the sheet into four pieces quartered the water mark.

BRAINY BRIEFS

Starched goods doesn't always command a stiff price.

No man can succeed unless he has faith in his own ability.

Even the pessimist sometimes laughs at the troubles of others.

It is easier to get the best of an argument than to prove that you are right.

A bachelor says that it is far better to be alone in this world of sorrow than to live next door to an amateur cornet player.

NOTABLE REMARKS

The world is work crazy.—Roger Payne.

There is nothing left to discover.—Raold Amundsen.

Jazz is the voice of the American soul.—George Gershwin.

I found the trap door of hell in Chicago.—Aimee McPherson.

A woman is a mere parenthesis in a man's life.—Mussolini.

Compared to Adam, Eve was an angel.—Lady Nancy Astor.

Let students pay their own way through college.—John D. Rockefeller.

Extravagance is a marked trait of our national life.—Howard E. Monday.

The United States senate needs freedom of speech.—Senator Pat Harrison.

The film industry has been spending too much for what it is getting.—Jesse Lasky.

God is being obscured by the smoke screen of psychology.—Dean Shailer Mathews.

There will be no peace in the world until all nations adopt a universal language.—Henry Mencken.

HAPPY THOUGHTS

On the tennis court many a miss makes a hit.

Troubles and babies grow bigger by nursing them.

Nobody wants the man who gives himself away.

You can't get experience on the easy-payment plan.

The smaller the mind the longer it takes to make up.

No man becomes well-to-do quicker than the man who is hard-to-do.

A prophet is without honor in his own country, but a profiteer is almost sure to get one.

Ninety per cent of the flattery in this world is expended on gravestones, and the rest on women.

DAILY HELPS

Sunday—O Lord, Thou art my God, early will I praise Thee.

Monday—Forth in Thy name, O Lord, I go!

Tuesday—Hold Thou up my goings in Thy paths that my footsteps slip not.

Wednesday—I am sometimes afraid, yet put I my strength in Thee.

Thursday—Be not afraid for I am with Thee.

Friday—Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.

Saturday—Man goeth forth to his work and to his labor until the evening.

USEFUL THOUGHTS

Salt water will set all shades of pink.

Skimmed milk will stiffen fine organdies and dainty laces.

A little borax sprinkled under rugs will keep away troublesome moths.

Sawdust sprinkled evenly over the floor before laying linoleum will make it wear longer.

A splendid healing solution for cuts and burns is made by dissolving one teaspoonful boric acid in one pint of water.

SAID BY WISE MEN

Time, which strengthens friendship, weakens love.—De La Bruyere.

Unkind language is sure to produce the fruits of unkindness—that is, suffering in the bosom of others.—Bentham.

It is a sad thing when a man has either a reputation beyond his merit or an ambition beyond his ability.—S. Beatty.

Named by the Dutch

Schuylkill is of Dutch origin, meaning hidden stream, and was so named because the first explorers passed its mouth without seeing it. Susquehanna is from the Indian Suckahanna, meaning water.

Local Death Record

George B. Odell died today at his home, 95 Gage street. Notice of funeral arrangements later.

Mrs. Beatrice Catherine Roberts, formerly Beatrice Reiners of Ellenville, died January 13 in a hospital in Kitchener, Ontario.

Clarice DeWitt, wife of Elbridge DeWitt, died at her home in Ellenville on January 5. She is survived by her husband. Burial was in Fantinekill cemetery at Ellenville.

Thompson H. Butler, who resided in this city about thirty years, died here Friday night. He was a member of Rondout Commandery, No. 52, Knights Templar. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Myrtle Burrell, aged 21 years, daughter of Nathan Burrell of Bridgeport, Conn., and the late Etta Foland Burrell, both formerly of this city, died at the Undercliff Sanitarium at Meriden, Conn., on Friday, January 20. Funeral Monday, January 23, at 2:30 o'clock in Bridgeport.

Mrs. Hannah Osterhoudt of Mettacahonts died suddenly at her home there on January 15, aged 74 years. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Edgar Mackey, with whom she made her home, and Mrs. Josiah Krom; two sisters, Miss Delilah Rider and Mrs. P. Miller, and a brother, Benjamin Rider.

The funeral of Sarah E. Souers, widow of Christopher Diehl, was held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. from her late home on Hasbrouck street, Port Ewen. Services were conducted by the Rev. W. H. Pretzsch, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, this city, assisted by the Rev. Paul Goetz of the Port Ewen Reformed Church. Flowers in abundance attested to the high esteem in which the deceased was held. Interment was in the Montrepose cemetery, this city.

The funeral of Veronica, wife of Stanley Rydzewski, of 29 Jarrold street was held from the late home Thursday at 9 a. m., and at the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 10 o'clock where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Ignatius Bialdyga, pastor. A large funeral cortege and profusion of beautiful flowers attested to the esteem in which the deceased was held by a wide circle of friends. The bearers were Joseph Tesslo, Peter Tucker, John Klonowski, Frank Kruszenski, John Mazedin, and Walter Molmon. Interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery, where the final absolution was pronounced by the Rev. Father Bialdyga.

St. Remy, Jan. 21—Miss Katherine Roosa, daughter of the late Levi C. Roosa and Maria Depew Roosa and last surviving member of the family, died at the home of her niece, Mrs. Harry Ellsworth, on Monday, January 16. Funeral services were held on Wednesday, January 18, the Rev. G. W. Gulick officiating. She was in her seventy-eighth year and one of the oldest residents of St. Remy. "Aunt Kate", as she was familiarly called by young and old, endeared herself to all not only by her humble quiet spirit, but relatives and friends have reason to hold her in grateful remembrance for loving ministrations in times of sickness and sorrow. She was an active member of church and Sunday school and although deaf for many years as long as her health permitted she was always found in her accustomed place of worship awaiting the blessing she was sure to receive. During her long illness she suffered intensely yet patiently and a smile always awaited those who visited her bedside. From a life made beautiful by many Christian graces she has gone to the rest that remaineth for the people of God.

Jeremiah K. Merritt, a former Saugerties business man, who owned and occupied the building now known as the Community House on Main street, Saugerties, died Thursday afternoon at San Diego, California, in his eighty-fourth year. A daughter, Mrs. Frank G. Phelps of Saugerties, and two sons, Clarence and Benjamin Merritt, both of San Diego, survive. Mr. Merritt was a son of Caleb M. and Henrietta Houghtaling Merritt and was born April 29, 1844, at the Merritt homestead on the Lucas turnpike near this city. He attended school at Old Hurley and also at Roxbury. He was first employed in the store of Merritt & Brodhead in Kingston, his father being a member of the firm. In 1861 he entered the employ of Merritt & Crosby, dry goods merchants of this city. In 1867 he decided to prepare for the ministry, but failing health forced him to relinquish his desire. In 1870 he embarked in the dry goods business at Nyack with his brother, Abram. Ill health caused him to retire during the year and he went to Saugerties and in 1871 began doing business as a dealer in dry goods and carpets. He built up a large business. He was deeply interested in the former local Y. M. C. A. and also the Reformed Church of which he was an active member. The body will be brought to Saugerties for burial.

Men Like Coffee Beans?

Life standardizes us. We are like so many coffee beans—the same size the same color, the same smell. Creatures of convention! The very buttons that hold our clothes together are sewed where they are by the dictates of convention. Every article of dress is prescribed by fashion and custom; we eat what we do for the same reason, we get up in the morning, comb our hair, go to our offices, or cook breakfast, wash dishes, and perform the thousand and one things that make up our daily lives, because convention so decides. Some fortunate ones succeed in pursuing more or less independent existences, but the whole tendency of our American life is to make us do the same thing, say the same thing, and think the same thing. —Charles G. Norris in Plain Talk Magazine.

ULSTER MEMBERS ATTEND HOLLAND SOCIETY BANQUET

The forty-third annual banquet of The Holland Society of New York was held at the Hotel Astor in New York city on Thursday evening with an attendance larger than in several years past. Among the speakers were Dr. J. H. Van Royen, minister from the Netherlands; the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Richmond, president of Union College, and Hendrik William Van Loon, the well known author.

Among the present and former residents of Ulster county who attended the banquet were Theodore Brink, Dr. George Livingston Brodhead, Dr. Raymond S. Crispell, Bruyn Hasbrouck, James de la Montanye, J. Elmendorf Ostrander, Rensen B. Ostrander, Luther L. Osterhoudt, E. Otis Van Aken and DeWitt Van Buren.

The society has very nearly reached the membership limit of one thousand, it was announced, and was in a very flourishing condition.

During the evening an orchestra rendered a fine musical program.

Seated on the dais were representatives of the following societies: Military Order of Foreign Wars, Society of Mayflower Descendents, Society of Colonial Wars, New York Southern Society, Sons of the Revolution, St. Nicholas Society of New York, New York State Society of the Cincinnati, St. George's Society of New York, St. Andrew's Society, The Friendly Sons of Saint Patrick, the St. David's Society, Saint Nicholas Society of Nassau Island, the Huguenot Society of America, the Empire State Society, Sons of the American Revolution, the Netherlands Society of Philadelphia and the Colonial Order of the Acorn.

NICKEL COFFEE.

The five-cent cup of coffee is now seriously threatened. Chicago seems to be at the bottom of this impending disaster, but possibly restaurateurs in others cities will support the contention of those of Chicago that it actually costs 7 cents to serve a cup of coffee and that therefore an increase in price to 10 cents is inevitable.

It is said, to the credit of proprietors of restaurants and lunch counters, that in retaining the traditional price of a nickel for this important beverage so long after its cost had risen beyond that, they have not lowered its quality.

Something should be done about this—something, that is, besides raising the price. Can't Ford's methods be applied here? Can't the price be maintained at the present low level and production and consumption so increased that marvelous savings will be accomplished in the production process? This would reduce the cost to the restaurateur while preserving the quaffer's exchequer.

WAR ON COLDS.

The common cold will be the subject of a five-year intensive investigation by the medical forces at Johns Hopkins University. Perhaps when that institution gets through, there won't be much left of the cold. A cold is dangerous for many reasons. It lessens its victim's efficiency even if it does nothing worse. Allowed to run its course, it often lowers physical resistance so that the sufferer is easy prey to other diseases. It often covers the advance of influenza and pneumonia. If it were prevented or promptly cured, these could be warded off.

Many of the so-called children's diseases start with the same symptoms as a cold in the head. The foolish parent or teacher who says, "Oh, Johnny just has a common cold," and lets Johnny stay in school with all his companions, helps to spread an epidemic of serious consequences through the community.

If a careful scientific study, such as the Johns Hopkins scientists will make, can eliminate this dangerous ignorance and indifference, great good will be accomplished and public health will be amazingly helped and advanced.

CONVERTED TO RADIO.

Sir Thomas Beecham, celebrated British musician, declared that radio broadcasting was "music's greatest menace". Then he came to America. It might be supposed that Sir Thomas has been having a perfectly terrible time over here. Everybody knows how it is, by day and night. It develops, however, that one evening recently Sir Thomas conducted a broadcast concert by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, and during the intermission gave a radio talk on the music, without revealing any evidence whatever of disgust or discomfort. He even seemed to approve of radio as a musical ally.

Several million Americans will rise up as one fan to tell him he's right. Radio music was terrible in the early days, and sometimes is yet, when static is active or waves get crossed or the broadcasting station lets in poor performers. But the biggest fact about present-day radio is the excellence with which good music can be communicated by air.

Broadcasting stations are greatly improved, and the receiving set itself has earned the right to be called a musical instrument. The result is that music and musicians in general benefit from it.

HARD LUCK FOR THOMPSON.

Having denounced and "fired" William McAndrew, superintendent of Chicago's schools, and vociferously pretended that in so doing he preformed great service to his city and country, Mayor Thompson must now face the unpalatable fact that Mr. McAndrew has been placed in a position to influence school histories used in every part of the United States. For the celebrated educator has been retained by the Century Company to edit its histories—a publishing house that for many years has marketed and still markets large numbers of school textbooks. And it would seem to be quite useless for Mayor Thompson to accompany his explosion of wrath with the announcement that the publishing house named is in league with those who would mislead and "Anglicize" the children of America, for after long experience the Century Company must know what the school directors of the United States want, as well as what it is about in employing the liberal-minded, forward-looking educator Mr. McAndrew is said to be.

The significance of this development, which even Mayor Thompson can hardly fail to perceive, would appear to be that he failed to create any wide distrust of Mr. McAndrew, and that all his professional patriotism and sound and fury were generally discounted and adjudged to be what there is every indication that they were mere self-seeking "politics."

THE PHYSICIAN OF THE FUTURE.

I often wonder just what the physician of the future will be like; what he will study whilst at college; what will be his standing in the community; whether or not the state or municipality will pay him a stated salary, with no fees paid by the patients themselves.

Because when you come to give it a little thought you will see that a great deal of the physician's time at college is now spent in learning how to prevent disease, and how to teach disease prevention to the public.

We already have the dental and medical profession having patients come to them once or twice a year to be carefully examined. If there is anything not just as it should be, measures are taken to correct same.

However I believe the physician of the future will go further than this, and will be a family adviser on all matters of health.

That he will have so many homes or families to supervise, and by his regular visits will not only detect troubles early, but will be able to give sound advice on habits of hygiene.

For instance, the first thought will be of food.

With a full knowledge of the family income he will be able to advise the housewife as to the values of foods in general, and lay out special diets for babies, delicate children, or adult invalids.

Sleep is just as important as food and the family health adviser will outline the needs of each member. The babe sleeping practically all the time, the growing child twelve to fourteen hours, the youth and young woman ten hours, and the parents eight to nine hours.

Further, he will see that the bedrooms are ventilated, and the mattresses not "dead" or "lumpy," thus ensuring real rest.

And finally as the huge muscles of the body were meant to be used, to be worked, he will be able to outline the necessary exercise, walking, games, or physical training, as indicated in each case.

The sanitation of the home itself in a general way will also be his care.

And when you come to think of it, as the health of an individual or a community is its biggest asset, why should it not be in the care of one specially trained in all that pertains to health.

KINGSTON ARMORY PRONOUNCED POOREST

According to the Newburgh News the conversation of inspecting officers and those of the 156th Field Artillery of Newburgh at a social hour Wednesday night concerned the armories in the Hudson valley. Kingston was pronounced the poorest unit in the lower district with Newburgh a close second. The social hour was spent by the officers after annual inspection and muster of the two Newburgh batteries.

With the National Guard represented by a Field Artillery command, it was brought out that there is no longer necessity for the large drill sheds. As manoeuvering is done on an open field it is deemed necessary that such be situated at a convenient distance from the city so that troops may be moved from the assembly headquarters. The field recently procured for the Newburgh batteries, it is said, was approved by the inspecting officers.

Legion Drive For 700 Members

Mass Meeting at Legion Memorial Building Sunday Afternoon to Plan Details of Campaign Which Starts February 1.

The first gun in the American Legion campaign for 700 members in Kingston will be fired Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Every Legionnaire is urged to be present at that time to attend a membership mass meeting at the Legion Memorial Building to discuss and plan the details of the membership campaign to start February 1.

There are over 1,000 World War veterans in Kingston and vicinity. The Legionnaires say that they are going to get at least 700 of these to join with them in the work they are carrying on.

The highest paid-up membership Kingston Post ever had in one calendar year was 527, although a greater number have belonged to the Post but allowed their memberships to lapse.

Ulster county stood second on the Legion membership percentage list in New York State on January 15. Kingston Post men say that will take Ulster up one step to the top by February 15.

All men and women who served in the armed forces of the country during the duration of the war are eligible for membership. An honorable discharge and $3 are all that are necessary.

The commander of Kingston Post has announced the following ten principal reasons why war veterans should join up with the Legion.

The use of one of the finest club houses in town. Library, radio, cards, billiards, shower baths, good fellowship.

The American Legion Magazine, a periodical that ranks with the best, with news of interest to the veteran and stories and articles by the best writers in America (this comes monthly).

Our own number, the monthly paper of Kingston Post, giving news of Post happenings and aspirations.

An American Legion button—your badge of honor, standing for service then and now.

The right to attend Post meetings and take part in the welfare, Americanism, Boy Scout, mobilization and other worth-while work of the Post.

The right to join the drum corps, service club and other auxiliaries of the Legion, and to bring your wife to the dances, entertainments and other good times in the Legion building.

The services of our adjutant whenever you or your family needs expert advice and assistance in straightening out any problem concerning the veteran.

An opportunity to form lasting friendships with "the other fellow". All religious and political creeds, all trades and professions. What an opportunity to learn something from "the other fellow".

The knowledge that, in case of your death, the Legion stands behind your widow and children to do what they can, and that your Legion buddies will be on hand to do the last rites in honor of your memory.

To enjoy the satisfaction that comes from doing your share in a national organization that is working for God and country and you.

LAKE KATRINE.

Lake Katrine, Jan. 21.—The Home Department met with Mrs. Murlin Wolven on Thursday afternoon with 26 members and two visitors present. This date happened to be Mrs. Wolven's wedding anniversary and she was presented with a very pretty plant. The election held resulted in all of the old officers being reelected: Mrs. Louis Shaw, superintendent; Mrs. Rupert Everett, assistant; Mrs. Joel Brink, secretary; Miss Ida Brink, treasurer. During the holidays baskets of fruit were sent to those confined by illness, boxes of candy and cigars to the T. B. Hospital, small cretonne bags containing handkerchiefs for the ladies of the city home and cigars for the men. Mrs. Stoff, one of the new members, extended an invitation to the Home Department to meet with her next meeting.

Last Monday evening the Grangers, under the supervision of the lecturer, enjoyed a lively program which opened with a solo, "When the Evening Shadows Fall," by John Dinkler, Sr. He was obliged and responded to an encore. There was a recitation, "Farmer Ben", by Miss Louise Tuter and remarks by Mr. Bogert. Jokes were told by James Shiels. The rest of the hour was given over to stunts by the members, which created much merriment. Messrs. Clement and Doran of Asbury Grange were guests.

January 27 two plays will be given at the hall entitled, "Sauce for the Goslings" and "The Difference in Clocks," by a cast of players from Huguenot Grange, New Paltz, under the auspices of the January committee: Mr. and Mrs. William Hookey, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Van Aken, Mrs. Louis Shaw and Stephen Sahler. Tickets are now on sale.

An enjoyable evening was spent by the Neighborhood Card Club with Mr. and Mrs. P. Winant last Saturday evening. Mrs. R. Everett won first prize for ladies. William Hookey first prize for gentlemen. Mr. and Mrs. Gates consolation prizes.

Little Dorothy Nichols, who has been ill with scarlet fever, is improving.

MANY DISEASES BEGIN WITH COLDS!

There are countless cases of illness which started with a so-called "simple cold." There is no such a thing as a cold that isn't dangerous—and people are beginning more and more to realize this fact.

A "cold" is an indication of a congestion somewhere within the body—and the degree of this congestion is largely governed by the uneliminated poisons within one's body, and the amount of resistance a person has. In other words, a "cold" is a sign of lowered bodily resistance—a warning that when your vitality is low enough to "take cold", it is likewise low enough to allow serious, even fatal, diseases to develop.

There is no method today which so speedily and scientifically reaches—and overcomes—the cause of colds, as Chiropractic. Be on the safe side of health by having your resistance built up by Chiropractic!

Tells Kiwanians Of Investments

Raymond G. Stickney Gives Talk on Bonds as Investments — Factors Which Render a Bond Undesirable for One Might Make It Desirable for Another.

Announcements of coming events and attractions of the week was the first thing in order at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Firstly President Rowland called attention to the coming banquet of the Chamber of Commerce. Kiwanians have always done their bit to uphold the Chamber in its endeavors to work for the betterment of the city and all were pleased to be reminded that two of the members, Lew Brown and Bill Byrne, are directors of this constructive civic body.

Secondly came the announcement of the musical treat prepared for Kingston by the Schubert Choral Club under whose auspices Reinald Werrenrath, the celebrated baritone, will give a concert at the high school auditorium on Monday, January 30. A Kiwanian who knew somewhat of Mr. Werrenrath volunteered some interesting items about him. It was while he was in college and was singing in the University Glee Club that the quality of his voice first began to attract attention and caused him to begin those studies which have led to such a wonderful career. It is certain that the members of the Kiwanis Club will be well represented in the audience at this recital.

The last announcement was that on Wednesday night the Ulster County Fish and Game Club would hold their annual banquet and discuss plans for the coming year. Any trout fisherman whose experience covers a period of years will vouch for its successful efforts in stocking streams that have made good fishing where before there was none.

Report of Kiwanis Conference.

A very interesting report of the recent conference of the trustees of the Kiwanis Clubs of this district was given by Trustee Gifford. A large and enthusiastic gathering at the Utica Hotel heard the district governors and others tell of the plans for Kiwanis work for the coming season. In harmony with the Kiwanian motto of building, cooperation was a watch word that should also be stressed. The many and various ways in which different localities could use cooperation with the national motto of "We Build" and thus be an aid to themselves and others was a thought worthy of much consideration.

Talk On Investments.

The speaker of the day was Raymond G. Stickney of New York and Albany. He and his family have been connected with the Bacon-Stickney Coffee Company of Albany for many years. In addition Mr. Stickney is vice-president of the J. A. Ritchie Company of New York city. "Conservative Investments" was the topic which Mr. Stickney developed for his very instructive talk to the club.

Ignoring the question as to possible conservatism of investments in stocks, Mr. Stickney confined himself to the general subject of bonds as an investment principle. Up until a few years ago, before the war, bonds were a commodity little known to the average investor. Railroad bonds were well received in certain sections and as such had quite a favorable patronage. But with the war and the tremendous campaigns put over to sell the Liberty Bonds the little fellow, "the man in the street, suddenly learned that one did not need thousands of dollars to invest in bonds, or even hundreds, but that his few dollars in the savings bank would make him a possessor of a bond or bonds. In many instances the idea of the security and conservatism of investment in Liberty bonds which was so widely preached was taken as a measure of security by which to gauge all bonds. This was not so. There are good bonds and other bonds not so good. Bonds which are today a safe and profitable investment in a few years may not be such good receptacle for the family nest egg.

Consider Class of Protection.

Again, the class of protection to the investment must be considered. For a business man who might care to use his bonds as collateral for a loan at the bank a certain class of bonds might have a better value than for a widow who had children to bring up and educate. Another thing that was far different now was the fact that good bonds today might not be good investments tomorrow, not, however, that bonds showed any rapid change but often through a period of several years there might be changes that would affect either favorably or adversely certain bonds or certain classes of bonds as a safe conservative investment. Therefore, the old idea of buying a bond and then using a deposit box as a cold storage compartment merely to hold the bond between coupon clippings must be abandoned. Bonds should be frequently carefully scrutinized by some one who knew well market conditions. Certainly not less frequently than once a year any bond holdings should be carefully gone over to be sure that all were still of the same high investment value as at the time of purchase. Because of the nature of the security back of a bond it was most always possible to dispose of a bond without loss or only slight loss because factors which might render a bond undesirable for one might be the very things that made it desirable for others. Also a careful checking of bonds frequently led to substantial profits that were of great interest to the small investor.

To summarize, in buying bonds deal with only known reliable people, from time to time carefully compare your bonds with present conditions and no one will have cause to regret having ventured into the bond market as an investment field.

SUGGESTS CITY SUNDAY SCHOOL ORGANIZATION

To the Editor of The Freeman:

Sir:

The writer has been impressed with the idea that a city Sunday school organization, auxiliary to the county Sunday school organization, would be a valuable addition to the religious work of the city and county. It would be a rallying point for some religious activities and would add to the interest and zest of Bible study. United and uniform effort in some lines of church activity accomplish more than isolated action.

Parallel experiences may be seen in politics, business and military affairs. It requires the best brains and experience and conservation of both clergy and laity to deal with the moral and religious problems of the day. "In union there is strength." "In the multitude of councilors there is safety."

I believe much in the get together way of doing things. The expense and effort would be negligible. The results might be important. I believe a city Sunday school organization would be practical and helpful. My belief and attitude are based on years of observation and experience in this line of work.

A FRIEND OF THE CAUSE.

Objects of Girl Scouts

The Girl Scouts, a national association, is non-sectarian and non-partisan. The object of the organization is to give girls, through natural, wholesome pleasures, those habits of mind and body which will make them useful, responsible women, ready and willing to take a definite part in the home, civic and national affairs of their country.

Penney Co. Has Grown Rapidly

New Department Store Concern Which Will Operate in Kingston Was Formed 25 Years Ago With Small Capital—Now Operates 954 Stores.

The J. C. Penney Company which has leased for a term of years the Everett property on Wall street, extending through Fair street where it will operate one of its chain of department stores has made rapid growth since it was formed. From an initial investment of $500 in cash and a note for $1,500 made by J. C. Penney in a little store in Kemmerer, Wyo. in April, 1902, the J. C. Penney Co. has grown in 25 years to a nationwide institution.

This is the largest percentage growth made by any business investment in the United States in a similar period of time. The total number of stores operated by the company at the present time is 954 and these stores are distributed throughout every state in the union with two exceptions. Up until April of this year the gross volume of business done ranked third among the general chain store systems, but in April they leaped into second place among all chain stores and have held this position ever since. The percentage increase in sales over corresponding months of last year has led all others in the top classification of general store systems.

In the past two years the total number of J. C. Penney stores has increased from 676 to 954 with notable increases this year through the acquisition of the Jones System of 40 stores in the Northwest and through other store purchases along the Pacific Coast made during the past two months. The original policy of serving the customers with high quality at a fair price and of doing business on a cash basis has been steadily maintained in all stores. It has also been a policy never to have "sales" or "remnant days" or other efforts in which price slashings are featured.

The original plan of operation was to enable store managers to become part owners in their original stores and to expand this part ownership to other stores which were developed under their direction. This has since been expanded by allowing the store managers to become stockholders in the J. C. Penney Co., which enables them to participate in the profits of the local stores and of the parent organization. As the scope of operations of the company has been expanded it has become possible for the individual store managers to get the pick of the greatest markets in the world in their selection of the merchandise which they offer to their customers. This has been augmented by the 18 story warehouse of the J. C. Penney Co. in New York city, in which displays of stock, displays of store fittings and all other conveniences add to the case with which the store managers may get a full selection of merchandise constantly available.

Despite the national scope of the J. C. Penney Co. organization, the basis of the success of the individual stores has been in the local nature of their operations. Wherever they are located, the managers of the J. C. Penney Co. stores are actively identified with the major local activities. They are local merchants operating with the strength and facilities of a great national institution back of them. To meet the requirements of the parent organization they must participate in local, civic and religious movements and contribute to local charitable activities. In the majority of cases they are property holders and many of the employees of the stores are also property holders and identified with local activities.

Follies Girls Still Wanted

The opportunity that the Broadway Theatre presents herewith to all the girls of Kingston, or its vicinity, between the ages of 16 to 25, to appear on its stage, is one that requires no sixth sense to discern. It is presented in clear facts and can not possibly be mistaken for anything other than the shining opportunity it is. During the week of January 30, when the Kingston Follies will be presented as the feature attraction of the regular vaudeville bill, there will be a musical presentation composed of an ensemble of some 20 or more Kingston girls arrayed in a gorgeous costume display the same as in any first class presentation now on tour in any of the larger cities.

These girls will sing better, dance better, and display their individual talents in specialties better than any other showing of a like nature that has been presented here in some time past. The local girls will be trained in stage technic under the personal direction of a professional producer, Tom Linton, former producer of Broadway shows. Everything will be provided for her requirements without the cost of a cent to herself in any way. There are no strings attached to this offer. All that is required is that the girls must be 16 years of age and enroll at once before the rehearsals begin.

Many applications have been received ever since The Freeman first made the announcement of the coming of this event, but it is not too late for any ambitious young lady who would like to take an active part in the local cast to do so. Incidentally a cordial invitation is extended by the management to all who might be interested.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Sunday, January 22.

Louise Homer, famous American contralto of the Metropolitan Opera Company, her daughter, Louise Homer Stires, soprano, and Wilbur W. Evans, bass-baritone and winner of the recent Atwater Kent foundation contest, together with an orchestra under the direction of Robert Hood Bowers, will be the offering of the Atwater Kent hour through WEAF and the Red network at 9:15 Sunday night. Fifteen minutes later WOR and the Purple network will feature a group of semi-classics and ballads by the American Singers, a group of male voices. "You're Gonna Reap What You Sow" will open the list of Negro spirituals to be rendered by the Utica Jubilee Singers for the listeners of WJZ, WHAM, KDKA and WJR. George Weston, fiction writer, will speak during the Collier radio presentation at 8:15 through WJZ and the Blue network. Two radio dramas and music by a concert orchestra will be included in this program. A fitting entertainment for the Sabbath night may be tuned in from WBAL at 8:00 o'clock. This will be cantata, "The Conversion of St. Paul," as interpreted by the Boy Choir of Old St. Paul's Church. "I, the Poor Indian," will be the theme for the Acousticon hour through WEAF and the Red network at 5:30. Marches and selections reminiscent of the noble redman will be played by a salon orchestra and a male quartet will be heard in the popular songs of 25 years ago that glorified the original American. This program will be closely followed by a program of martial music by the Weymouth Post American Legion band. The same Red network stations will radiate this feature. Roxy and His Gang will furnish another matinee highlight beginning at 2:00 o'clock through the Blue network.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Monday, January 23.

Lawrence Tibbett, 22-year-old baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, whose remarkable voice has carried him through a sensational rise to musical fame in five short years, will be the featured soloist in the General Motors' family party at 9:30 on Monday night. Other bright lights in this entertainment will be a symphony orchestra under the direction of Roderic Graham, Joe Green's novelty orchestra and a concert band with Edwin Franko Goldman, as director. At the same time WNYC will radiate speeches which will be part of the dinner of the Society of the Genesee in honor of John North Willys, prominent manufacturer. Programs from two foreign nations will be of much interest to the dial twister. At 8:45 CNRO, of Canada, will broadcast a recital by the Ottawa male quartet, and at 10:00 o'clock an hour of Cuban music and songs will be featured by PWX of Havana. Beatrice Belkin, coloratura soprano, will be the drawing card of Roxy's program through the Blue network at 7:30. Miss Belkin will be supported by vocal and instrumental soloists and ensembles.

New Paltz Normal Doings

Many diversions are offered to normal school students not only for recreation but also for education. One of the best features of this year was presented by the Stratford players on Monday, January 16. Their presentation was Julius Caesar, an immortal Shakespearian tragedy. Although this drama is a historical one, Shakespeare used great freedom in his treatment of historical facts as he wished to make a good story rather than be exact as to time and place. The theme of the story is true. It is the tragedy of Caesar which includes the conspiracy, his assassination and the fate of those who took his life.

It was a satisfied audience that filled the auditorium. Nearly everyone was familiar with this drama, and to those who were not the presentation was appealing because of the very wonderful portrayal of human nature in it. One of Shakespeare's qualities is his expression of human emotions.

All of the qualities of Shakespeare's characters were well portrayed by the efficient actors. John C. Hickey, who played the part of Cassius, was so suave and confident with Caesar that it was hard to believe he was conspiring against him. John Forrest, who was Mark Antony in the presentation, played his part extremely well. Who did not thrill to the old familiar lines, "Friends, Romans, Countrymen", must have been passive. All of the other players showed good training and grace, each adding his whole being to make the audience tense and lead it up to the great climax.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. Beebe's specialized-psychology class had the privilege of going to Napanoch to see the inmates. This trip was greatly appreciated by the 125 students, as it makes their study of this subject vitally interesting when they have actually seen people who are victims of cases that they have studied.

Saturday night the boys' basketball team plays Spencer's Business School. A mighty fast game is expected as both teams offer good material for the contest. The students are running a bus to Kingston so the team will be cheered on to victory.

Miss Deane, the physical training teacher, has been working hard for the past weeks to get her classes ready for an exhibition which will be given Wednesday, January 25, in the normal gymnasium. A demonstration of the work done in gym will be given. Some of the girls will be appropriately costumed to give folk dances while others will wear regular gym clothes and do formal work. Much interest is being aroused in this undertaking. Every girl is responsible for one ticket, so it is expected that it will be a success financially, and everyone hopes its social success will be just as great.

Third of Nation On Motor Tours

More Than Forty-four Million People Will Take Vacation Motor Tours This Year, and Will Spend More Than Three and a Half Billion Dollars, A. A. A. Predicts.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—More than forty-four million people, over a third of the nation, will take vacation tours during 1928 and will spend the staggering sum of three and a half billion dollars, according to preliminary estimates of this year's motor tourist business made by the National Touring Bureau of the American Automobile Association today.

The A. A. A. estimate for 1928 is based on a detailed study of figures for the 1927 season, with an allowance of ten per cent increase for this year, which is about the normal annual growth in the gigantic industry of motor touring over the past few years.

Approximately forty million people, in ten million cars, took to the winding ribbons of paved highways and into the byways for their vacations last year, the national motoring body declares.

"One of the most impressive and important features of the motor tourist business in 1927," says the A. A. A., "was the trend away from the tourist camps and toward the hotels and tourist homes catering to motorists. The latter enjoyed a heavier business than in the previous year, despite weather conditions that somewhat handicapped the annual vacation movement. In this trend, amounting to an increase of twelve per cent in business, is seen a clear indication of the position of the resort hotel as a permanent fixture in the rest and play life of the motorists.

"The figures for last year show that 29,000,000 people in 7,250,000 cars patronized hotels and tourist homes. On the basis of last year's figures the total of this class of motorists should soar to 32,000,000 this year.

"Figuring four people to a car and allowing each occupant an expenditure of $7.50 a day, for an average period of ten days, the army of motorists patronizing hotels and resorts would spend nearly two and a half billion dollars in 1928.

"Wandering in nomad fashion, as lured by climate, scenery and history, more than 11,000,000 campers used their cars last year for vacations. The caravan numbered about 2,750,000 automobiles, including house cars fitted out for housekeeping and as trailers. This would justify the estimate that more than 12,000,000 campers will use over 3,000,000 pleasure cars to visit the great outdoors this year.

"The camper spends three times as long away from home as the hotel tourist and on a basis of $3.50 per day, per person, nearly a billion and a quarter dollars will be left along the gasoline trail by this class of motorist.

"These tentative estimates for 1928 may appear large, but they are in reality conservative and are based strictly on the figures for the past few years and the normal growth that each year has brought."

Two factors, according to the A. A. A., which handled 10,000,000 tours last year, are playing a predominant part in the development of America's motor tourist business, namely, the establishment of standardized motoring services throughout the country and the growing appreciation of the importance of the motor tourist caravan as a creator of community growth and prosperity. The statement concluded:

"From rock-ribbed Maine to sunny Florida, from the Atlantic seaboard to the blue waters of the Pacific, America is preparing for an unprecedented year in motor tourist travel. Thousands who stayed at home in 1927, due to the cool weather that hung over the nation in the summer months, plan to take to the open road during the present year and to spend more time on tour."

State Community Dramatics Contest

The finals in the New York State Community Dramatic Contest on Wednesday evening, February 15, of Farm and Home Week at Cornell University will be conducted in the campus theatre in Willard Straight Hall.

The contestants are: Sinclairville, Chautauqua county, winners in western New York, whose players present "The Neighbors," by Zona Gale; Redfield Grange, of Redfield, Oswego county, representing northern New York, offering "Day by Day," by Paul Green; Veteran community, Chemung county, winners in Central New York, giving "The Feast of the Holy Innocents," by Marshall Ilsley; New Paltz, Ulster county, for eastern New York, presenting "Sauce for the Goslings," by Elgine Warren. Willard Straight Theatre seats only 450 persons. Tickets may be reserved through your county agent or through the department of rural social organization at the college of agriculture, Ithaca, New York. The show will start promptly at 8 p. m. The income from tickets sold will be used to help defray expenses.

Sufferers From Catarrh

HERE IS GLORIOUS NEWS FOR YOU!

No matter how long you have suffered from this dreadful and annoying complaint, a speedy and effective relief from your suffering is now offered to you in CAMPHOROLE, whose wonderful results are realized at the very first trial. The most stubborn case will quickly yield to CAMPHOROLE.

"I would like every sufferer from Catarrh in this city to try my CAMPHOROLE," says Dr. Brigadell. Go to your druggist and get a 35c jar of my CAMPHOROLE, and if it fails to give immediate relief and is not better than anything you have ever used, return the jar to your druggist, who is authorized to refund your money. Once you have tried CAMPHOROLE you'll then realize how good it is, not only for Catarrh of nose and throat, but also for Asthma and Bronchitis.

Deduct Damages From Income Tax

A Board of Tax Appeals Holds Motorist Is Entitled to Deduct Auto Damages Sustained in Accident When Making Income Tax Return.

Washington, Jan. 21.—A decision of prime importance to the 22,125,- automobile owners throughout the United States has just been rendered by the U. S. Board of Tax Appeals of the Internal Revenue Bureau, and is being called to the attention of the motorists of the country by the American Motorists Association through its national headquarters at Washington.

The effect of the decision is that if a motorist sustains damage to his automobile, as the result of an accident, he may deduct such losses in the computation of his income tax. This is true, under the decision, the association points out whether the vehicle, at the time of the damage, is being used either for pleasure or business purposes.

The bureau's decision sustaining the motorist's contention that he should be entitled to this deduction, is a complete reversal of all previous decisions of the board of appeals on such losses. The case arises from an accident a motorist sustained in 1924 at Richmond, Virginia. He had paid $1,800 for his automobile which when wrecked, was being driven by his daughter for pleasure. The salvage was $135.45; being approximately the value of the tires. The motorist in his income tax returns for that year claimed a deduction of $864.48, as a loss resulting from the destruction to the car. On the appeal this principle, that the motorist is entitled to this deduction, was sustained the Board reversing its numerous previous decisions. As a result of the decision, the motorist in this case was awarded a refund of $66.99.

Commenting on the board's decision, J. Borton Weeks, President of the Association, declared that "it would meet with the approval of the millions of motorists throughout the country, and that the allowance was one which the motorists should have been entitled to many years ago. Many hardships have been sustained by motorists who have lost their cars through accidents and under the old law, were forced to pay the government an income tax in addition to sustaining the loss of their car."

The association pointed out, however, that the loss can only be deducted from the tax return in the event that the motorist is not compensated for his loss by insurance or otherwise. In figuring their 1927 returns the motorists are urged to bear the decision in mind.

MR. SHULTIS WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT FARM RELIEF

The Editor, Kingston Freeman:

Thanks for that editorial on farm relief. Isn't it true that all this farm relief is the heaviest impending tax that the farmers have to look out for? When did this country, all of a sudden, come to the notion that the American farmer needed to be fed on pap with a spoon?

And here is an item from this week's Brighton Market that says the sure footed, slow moving, soft chewing, moon eyed Hereford steers brought "12 cents live" last week. In 1921 or 1922 the writer had the pleasure of marketing a carload of moon eyed Herefords (of our own raising) at Brighton, that brought 4½ to 5 as I remember! Why, Farm Relief of the right kind, free from taxation seems to be here.

And I can't forget those penny eggs and the sixteen cent butter that I used to carry to the store as a boy! Did you ever in your long recollections, Mr. Editor, hear the farmer then cry out for Congressional relief?

As a Massachusetts Republican and born and bred an Ulster Democrat and a great admirer of Alton B. Parker, would he come out for the free and unlimited coinage of meadow hay any more than he came out for the free and unlimited coinage of silver in 1904?

Sincerely,
NEWTON SHULTIS.

American League Promises Great Battles in 1928

President Barnard Reviews The Prospects, Club By Club, Predicting Race The Most Hotly Contested In Many Years—No Great Gap Between Yankees and The Field.

Chicago, Jan. 21 (AP)—There is a logical foundation for the feeling said President E. S. Barnard of the American League today, that the championship race of 1928 will be the most hotly contested the league has experienced in many years.

The potential strength of the Yankees, he said, has not weakened the morale of the other seven clubs and there has been more trading of experienced ballplayers and strengthening of clubs this winter than ever before in the history of the league.

Reviewing the 1928 prospects, club by club, President Barnard said:

"Beginning at the bottom of the 1927 percentage table, we find that the Boston Red Sox will be better than last year, both because of material added and because of the increased experience of several brilliant youngsters with whom Manager Carrigan put in so much conscientious work last summer.

"The St. Louis Browns will be almost an entirely new club in 1928, as a result of the most drastic changes which ever before have been made in any American League club between two seasons. The Browns have sent several good players to other clubs but Manager Howley also has secured some good men in these exchanges. Players like Blue, Manush and McNeely would help almost any major league club. If the pitching staff measures up, the Browns will be a much better club than last season. This marked improvement in the Red Sox and the Browns is in itself a sufficient guarantee of an improved race when it is recalled that the big lead the Yanks enjoyed last season was secured and held at the expense of the two clubs. The world champions won eighteen out of twenty-two games with the Red Sox and twenty-one out of twenty-two games with the Browns in 1927.

Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, Washington and Philadelphia all have added strength to their 1927 organizations. The Indians suffered last year because Uhle, Levsen and Smith failed to do what was expected of them. Both Uhle and Levsen will be back in form this year and in addition the Indians have more reserve pitching strength than a year ago. The psychology of the new ownership will also have a beneficial effect upon the work of this club.

White Sox.

"With the addition of young Cissell, the return of Johnny Mostil to centerfield, the prospects of Moe Berg starting the season as a regular catcher, and the presence of several promising young pitchers and outfielders, the White Sox should be able to avoid the slump that has taken that club out of the race during the past two seasons after brilliant starts both years.

Detroit Club.

"The Detroit club has strengthened its defense without sacrificing speed or punch and, if Manager Moriarty can get his Tigers away to a better start than has characterized the early season work of that club in recent years, Detroit ought to cause the Yankees some sleepless nights next summer.

"President Griffith and Manager Harris have been carrying on an intensive campaign for a new pitching staff for the past two years and their efforts have been crowned with success that Washington enters the 1928 race with as good, if not the best, staff of hurlers in the American League.

Athletics Speeded Up.

"By getting rid of a number of veterans, the return of Hauser to form and the addition of several fast youngsters, the Athletics have been speeded up without the loss of any defensive strength. Connie Mack has a good chance to get the pitching in 1928 that he expected, but failed to get last season, and that is all he needs to keep the Athletics in the thick of things from the beginning to the end of the season.

Aggressive Ownership.

"The American League is fortunate in having the most aggressive ownership of its eight clubs in its entire history. If Colonel Ruppert and Miller Huggins can keep the Yanks up to their standards of the past two seasons, the American League is destined to give its patrons some great baseball, as the other clubs in the organization are determined to build up to the Yanks. The 1928 race will prove that considerable progress has been made in this direction and there will be no such gap between the Yankees and the field as was the case last season."

ACE HUDKINS WINS OVER LEW TENDLER.

New York, Jan. 21 (AP).—Ace Hudkins had advanced in his quest for the welterweight crown today with a ten round victory over the veteran Lew Tendler of Philadelphia, ring marvel a past decade.

Meeting in the Madison Square Garden arena last night, Hudkins gave the Quaker City southpaw a sound thrashing but failed to score a knockout. The Nebraskan had Tendler on the verge of reclining for the full count on several occasions.

Although the old timer was noticeably outclassed some 12,000 fans booed the judges' verdict and Hudkins while the venerable Tendler, who has been boxing for more than a dozen years, received the applause.

Kingston High Beat Middletown

The Kingston High School varsity basketball team defeated the Middletown High School quintet in a DUSO League game, 27-17, on the local court Friday night.

The Kingston team began to launch a scoring drive early in the contest and held sway over the Middies at the end of the first session, 11-6. A strong attempt to overcome the local team was made in the third quarter but the locals managed to keep out of danger.

Maroon did the leading point collecting for the local school team with a contribution of nine markers. Greenwell, former Kingston resident, played the role of star point getter for the Middletown school with a contribution of 10.

Fans Eager to See Van Burens

Dewey Will Attempt Comeback Against Joe Grant and Roy Will Tackle Aboba, Filipino Boxer.

A number of sport fans are eagerly waiting to see the sort of comeback Dewey Van Buren will be capable of staging, when he steps into the squared circle Monday night, after a long lay-off, against Joe Grant of the 269th Field Artillery of New York city.

Dewey in days of yesteryear could push leather into the face of an opponent in a becoming style. He was a popular man in the ring at one time and had a large following. Many of the fight fans who used to see Van crash into formidable opponents with a determined will to win will likely be present at the armory card Monday night to see the veteran of the cauliflower industry do battle with Joe Grant. Dewey is in good shape for the encounter and Grant, classed as a good boxer in the circle of armory show promoters, will have to be in prime form for the meeting.

Roy Van Buren is earnestly waiting for his chance at Tommy Aboba, Filipino flash, who is creating considerable reputation as an army boxer. The local athlete is in good condition and has been studying the art of dodging and heavy socking earnestly for the past several weeks. Roy has been putting special emphasis on the latter factor and expacts it to figure greatly in his hoped for win over Aboba when the two meet.

It is a known fact that the Kingston scrapper possesses a flashy method. He has displayed on many occasions here that speed forms one of his winning factulties. Van Buren, it is held by some, has lost the stamina which also helped him through many a tilt to a spectacular win but those who have seen him work out recently will agree that he has recovered what some dopesters say he lost forever. The chance to get into the roped arena with a man like Aboba has been a strong incentive for Roy to get to work and he hopes to wade into the limelight as an army boxer henceforth. Van Buren displayed his ability to hold out over a strenuous working period in a preliminary basketball game at the armory Thursday night. He came out of the netted area as fresh as he entered and while in the game he worked hard. His display of pep was remarked by a number of fight fans who attended the contest.

Joe Myers and Johnny Naccarato, local pugilists, who are scheduled to fight Tommy Gans and Al Pesce of the Metropolis, respectively, are in good trim for their scraps and hope to give the fans a real good time while they are in the squared circle.

Boys under 15 years of age, when accompanied by an adult, will be admitted to the boxing exhibition at the armory Monday night for one-half the general admission.

ST. MARY'S SCHOOL TEAM DOWNED ST. PETER'S, 40-8

St. Mary's Parochial School quintet defeated St. Peter's five Friday afternoon on the former's court, 40-8. The winners gained a big lead in the first half and stemmed an attempt of their rivals to start a scoring rampage in the second session. Lang and Kelly did the heavy scoring for the winners with 17 and 12 points respectively. Derrenbacher and Devoe each registered three markers for St. Peter's.

Yankees Won't Be Divided

Kenesaw M. Landis, the high commissioner of baseball, has settled the rumors that have been current for months that the New York Yankees' owner would be asked to "even up" the strength of American league clubs next season and make the financial returns more even thereby by weakening the present Yankee team.

"Has this suggestion ever been placed before you?"

"The matter has not been brought to my attention before," replied Mr. Landis. "Is it a matter which would or should be handled through your office as high commissioner?" he was next asked.

"I don't know as to that, but you can say this: That knowing what I do of baseball I know that that is one thing that will not happen."

Landis made the statement in an emphatic tone.

The runaway race in the American league, due to the terrific clouting of Ruth and Gehrig and the general strength of the Yankees, ended with Huggins' team around nineteen games in the lead and with the greatest record of victories ever hung up.

The strength of the team was apparent after the first few weeks and when the race became a stern chase the attendance in the cities which harbored the weak teams dropped away—the only large crowds being drawn by the visits of the Yankees.

When this drop in attendance came the rumors that the league heads would seek some drastic measures to equalize the situation started up. Club owners have intimated that they would ask Colonel Jacob Ruppert, the Yankee club owner, to submit to the disposal of one or perhaps two stars "for the sake of the game."

Landis' statement ends all such talk and places responsibility of strengthening the other clubs up to the owners, scouts and managers of the other clubs.

Judge K. M. Landis.

Fire sand is a highly refractory silica sand, especially suitable for manufacture of fire brick, for lining furnaces and ladles used to contain molten metals, for making molds and for other refractory products.

Jones Won't Play

Bobby Jones, whose wizardry on the links astounded Great Britain last summer, does not expect to defend his British open-golf title this year, but will play in the American open and American amateur.

This was because his classes at the Emory university law school would prevent him from returning to Great Britain.

Coveleskie to Try His Spitball With Yankees

Indications that the New York Yankees are counting upon the veteran pitching arm of Stanley Coveleskie for the 1928 season was seen in an announcement that he will report with the first squad of batterymen for spring training at St. Petersburg, Fla. Coveleskie was obtained via the waiver route from Washington, where he performed in only five games last season.

The Yankees also released Jim Wiltse, right-handed pitcher, outright to the Buffalo Internationals. He was given a trial last spring, but spent the 1927 season with the Bisons.

Bob O'Farrell's Injury Worries St. Louis Club

Indication that Bob O'Farrell, star catcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, may be out of the game at least part of next season was seen in the announcement of Sam Breadon, president of the club, that Frank Gibson, recently obtained from Boston, will be retained temporarily as first reserve catcher.

O'Farrell underwent an operation on the thumb of his throwing hand. A bone chip at the joint has caused trouble since a foul tip from the bat of Hughie Critz injured the thumb last September at Cincinnati.

Some Ball Players Save Their Money

A young ball player who recently joined the Chicago White Sox, asked Bernie Neis how much money he should take with him on the club's present trip through the East. "It all depends," replied Bernie, "on the company you keep. Now, for instance," he continued, "I am going to take two or three hundred dollars with me, and before the trip is over I probably will have to wire back to Chicago for more money. On the other hand, I know ball players who start out on a three-weeks' trip with a new shirt and a new ten-dollar bill and don't change either of them."

Leap Years

The years divisible by 100 are never leap years except when also divisible by 400. Thus 1700, 1800 and 1900 were not leap years, but the year 2000 will be.

The Sandman Story

By Martha Martin

MR. POLAR BEAR

"THERE has been one zoo," said the Sandman, "where they have been able to raise a polar bear cub successfully, for usually polar bear cubs do not care for zoos.

"It is different with big polar bears, but the little polar bears have not found that zoo life agreed with them. But this polar bear found it was different and that zoo life agreed with him perfectly from the time he was a baby cub in the zoo until he became quite good size.

He Thought He Would Sing a Polar Bear Song.

"He was so pleased about it that he thought he would sing a polar bear song, and this was his song:

I'm the Polar Bear so bold
Who loves the weather when it's cold.
I wear a white suit which looks like the snow,
And I'll tell you, too, I'm a dangerous foe.
But oh, how I love a cake of ice,
With it I'm really and truly nice!
I'm a bear that has grown from a tiny bear,
And this is a great event for this zoo,
Where they have raised me since the day I was born
And have cared for me ever since that morn.
My mother, of course, was a great, great help.
She understood my every yelp.
But this is the first zoo to have raised a cub
And they have called me the prize bear Bub!

"Yes," continued the Sandman, "it was a very wonderful event and the zoo people were very proud of it. They didn't want to boast of it until the bear was big enough to really be sure of growing up into strength and full polar bear size.

"Some of the animals were telling the visitors who they were by singing and talking in their different ways. [illegible] the visitors could not understand [illegible] the animals did they [illegible] be understood.

"[illegible] want to show [illegible] Mr. Polar Bear [illegible] a good deal from [illegible] And our keepers will tell them many things about us.

"Now, in that outside cage over some distance, Mr. and Mrs. Emeu are telling their friends and those whom they are seeing for the first time about themselves."

"Also," said the Sandman, "it was true. Mr. and Mrs. Emeu were strolling about in their yard, and were grunting out, singing their little piece about themselves.

"This is what it was when translated into words:

I am Mrs. Emeu and I'll have you know
That I keep Mr. Emeu well on the go,
For he brings up the children and I [illegible].
[illegible]
We have legs like long stilts, and bodies like hay,
And except when it's spring I'm pleasant and gay."

"And Mr. Emeu said:

Every word that she says is true.
This is what she makes me do.
She never, never will let me shirk.
She sees that I keep at my work.
She makes me bring up the children well.
And only allows herself a cross spell.
It's true, as she says, that she's cross in the spring.
But at other times she's a pleasant, nice thing.
She doesn't mind if I call her a thing
For she knows that I'm willing her praises to sing.
I like her, and that's enough for me.
And though she's strange, she and I agree.
I'm willing enough to do all the work.
I don't really care to shirk;
And if she's queer with each leg like a stilt,
I am the very same way, you see, built,
And we both have bodies that look like hay,
And most of the time we're happy and gay.
Yes, she tells you the truth in her song,
And I say the same, ding-dong, ding-dong.

"So," the Sandman ended, "these animals and their keepers told the people their names and their histories, and I've put into words you could understand just what it was they said, for the keepers and those who study animals understand animal language and will translate it for people!"

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

The ice cream, soap, laxative lady, rug and other booster programs were supplemented Friday evening by efforts on behalf of another brand of mineral water passing through the busy midst of the already crowded aerial offerings.

Another startling development of the evening was Phil Carlin demonstrating that he has learned enough Spanish to enable him to say "Good evening" in that language.

Reception was not amazingly good and there was a lot of fading. The best stations were WTAM, WLW and WJR. In fading and distortion WGY was the worst.

Sixty-two hours of continuous broadcasting, which, it is believed, will establish a world's record for non-stop radio programs, will mark the seventh birthday anniversary of station WLW, owned and operated by the Crosley Radio Corporation, Cincinnati. WLW will go on the air Friday, January 27, at 3 a. m. with its regular setting-up exercises. There will be no break in the broadcasting until Sunday, January 29, at 10 p. m. It has been estimated that more than 230 musicians and entertainers will be heard broadcasting from the Cincinnati studios of WLW during the celebration. More than 150 musicians will be heard by remote control in the five and a half hours of chain programs that will fall within the 62 hour schedule.

Some people go through life with the fixed idea that it is easier to surrender than to struggle.

RICH MAN ATTEMPTS LIFE TO END PAIN

Saw No Chance of Recovery, So Shot Himself.

Cincinnati.—An incurable malady which caused him much pain was believed to have prompted Henry Stein, seventy, believed to be from Miles City, Mont., and St. Paul, Minn., to attempt suicide in a hotel room here. Stein shot himself in the temple and his condition was pronounced critical at the hospital.

Stein is believed to be very wealthy and his papers and receipts indicated that he held stocks and bonds in large quantities and did business with several large banking institutions throughout the country.

It was reported that he closed a $1,000,000 real estate transaction in St. Paul, Minn., recently.

Notes found on his table and conversations he had with Mrs. Mary Parker, a hotel employee, indicated that he planned to take his life, police say. He told Mrs. Parker that he was disgusted with life.

A note he left, read: "Suffering constant excruciating pains with absolutely no possible chance of recovery. Bury me anywhere. Prefer Jewish cemetery, Cincinnati."

Schools in Old Prisons

School is being held in old Spanish fortresses as the first step in Americanization processes being carried on by the United States in Porto Rico. Cells where once prisoners paced to and fro now contain desks. Many of the classes are conducted behind barred windows and heavily grated doors, installed more than 400 years ago, and the somber walls are decorated with modern blackboards. American officers are learning to speak Spanish and Porto Ricans, who are also enrolled in the Sixty-fifth infantry regiment at San Juan are learning the English language. The schools are maintained in El Morro and San Cristobal fortresses.

Unkind Remark

It is a notorious fact that when a lawyer makes his own will he generally balls it up. This is because he has acquired such a habit of getting all there is out of others that he forgets he is working for himself.—Collier's.

FARM POULTRY

EGG A DAY MORE THAN HENS LAY

That a hen crosses the road for reasons of her own, and lays an egg a day, is all the information about her possessed by some members of the public. As a matter of fact, there is no record of a hen laying an egg a day for a full year. The standard as laid down by the poultry department of Ohio State university is 160 eggs in 365 days. The state average is about 70 eggs. Of course some high-grade hens do better. More than one hen on the records of the Ohio Poultry Improvement association has beaten the 300-egg mark in 365 days. But they are not common hens.

Egg production for the average hen is at the lowest point in November, when five eggs for the month is the standard requirement. This standard rises month by month to 21 eggs in April, then falls again.

This information is included on the Ohio State Poultry Calendar, distributed through the agricultural agents by the Ohio State university, to more than 3,000 Ohio poultry growers, who have registered with their agricultural agents and agreed to keep an accurate record of the performance of their flocks for 365 days. The calendar contains seasonal information on housing, feeding, breeding and diseases, prepared by the university poultry department.

Floor Space Necessary for Different Breeds

The light breeds such as Leghorns, Anconas, Minorcas and others, should have three and one-half square feet of floor space per bird, while heavy breeds such as Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, Wyandottes, Orpingtons and similar breeds should have at least four square feet per bird. If the present house is not large enough to provide this amount of space for the flock to be housed it is advisable to build more room, because a lack of space will make it increasingly difficult to keep the house sanitary and will lower the vitality of the birds, thus reducing the number and hatchability of the eggs produced.

Wire Mesh Bottoms for Nests Discourage Mites

Many poultrymen are now building nests in their laying houses with a fine wire mesh for the bottom instead of the usual board nests. There are two principal advantages which are set forth for this practice. The first is that such nests will be freer of mites on account of the fine dust from the straw or other litter dropping through, and the second is that there will be fewer broken eggs.

Nests which are constructed on this plan may be easily sprayed for mites, which is an advantage in their favor. When the straw gets low in the nests eggs will not be so easily broken as they would in board nests.

Hereditary Traits

Roosters furnish at least half of hereditary influences that determine the quality of chicks produced, and as relatively few males are required, the poultryman can afford to use considerable care in selecting the breeding males used in his different flocks. The ideal situation would be to have all flocks headed by males that combined good size, color and vitality with a pedigree of at least 200 eggs on the dam's side.

Poultry Notes

Poultry keepers who use cod liver oil for their flocks should feed it from the time the birds are put into winter quarters.

* * *

The poultry men are awakening to a short-sighted policy similar to that which has prevailed in the dairy industry. They have been breeding for production and forgetting form.

* * *

Hens that molt late can never be coaxed to lay winter eggs and it is better to put them in separate coops and feed for vitality and future profit. Corn, buckwheat, and mash are all excellent.

* * *

Because proper sanitation about the poultry yards will keep down coccidiosis and prevent the problem of controlling it from becoming acute, the disease is regarded with less alarm than a few years ago.

* * *

One of the most important essentials of a poultry house is that it be dry, free from drafts and well supplied with fresh air

* * *

Poorly colored birds and those with disqualifications, such as side sprigs on the comb and stubs on the legs, are undesirable as breeders.

* * *

Keep the pullets and early molters by themselves and give them the tonics, the green food and shells, starch, charcoal, etc., to stimulate egg production.

Virginia Led in Cotton

It is said that when Christopher Columbus discovered America in 1492 he found the cotton plant growing wild, but the earliest effort to cultivate it in what is now the United States was in 1621, in what is now the state of Virginia.

Catchy Line

Jones is an angler who uses only the higher and more expensive paraphernalia of his art. One day he was standing on the shore of a lake casting his flies without success, when along came a native with a good string of trout. After watching Jones' vain efforts for a few minutes the newcomer ventured: "Why don't you try worms?"

"Worms!" said Jones disgustedly. "My good fellow, you and I don't use the same language."

"Mebbe not, mister," said the other quietly, as he held up his catch, "but I reckon the fish understand me better when I drop 'em a line."—Vancouver Province.

Prehistoric Medicine

Tubes of soft soapstone used by a prehistoric Indian shaman, or medicine man, to heal the sick have been unearthed near San Diego, Calif., says Science. First blowing clouds of smoke through these tubes over the body of a patient, the medicine man pretended he could see into the body. The patient was told he had been bewitched by an enemy who had injected into his body a magical substance which changed into a toad, snake, rock or other object. Having located the object, the shaman pretended to pluck it out, producing as evidence, by sleight-of-hand, the offending substance.

Excusable Error

The story described its heroine as a dumpling sort of woman. The teacher paused and asked for a description of a woman of that kind.

"She would be rather tall and thin," suggested a pupil. "No," the teacher explained, "the lady would be short and plump—like a dumpling."

"Oh, yes," said the youngster. "I was thinking of a noodle."
